Specification

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.
2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: there is no brief description of Figure 23.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 10 and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 10, line 2, "such as DELRIN", renders the claim vague and indefinite as it is unclear if Delrin is required to meet the claimed limitations.

In claim 21, line 2, "such as Teflon", renders the claim vague and indefinite as it is unclear if Teflon is required to meet the claimed limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 5-9, 11, 13-20 and 26-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lindner et al.

Lindner et al. shows a reservoir A; outlet at the end of conduit a'; valve assembly e, a having a body, an inlet and outlet; flow path from b to a'; valve element e, e'; first and second portions on a and e; actuator g; body surface on e; first and second bores b, a'; projection as seen in the figure on e engaging a; nozzle a'; retainer as the end engaging surface on a and also as the threads on e'; threaded bore on e and e'; spring seen in the figure; spring retainer seen engaging the ends of the spring; disk-like portion and groove in e; elongate portion seen in the figure; the stop is the part of a engaging e; camming surface on lever g seen in the figure; and the retainer and seal seen in the figure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 2-4, 10, 12 and 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lindner et al.

Lindner et al. shows all claimed features but lacks the specific shapes on the valve, material for the valve, and the interchangeable nozzles. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the valve spherically shaped with the various cross sections in order to better hold the valve in the user's hand. The various substances used to make the valve would have been obvious in order to prevent damage to the valve and provide materials that are durable and easy to employ in manufacture. Finally, having various nozzles would have been obvious in order to provide for different dispensing speeds and spray patterns.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Chapman, Reip, Dark and McClure show other dispensing valves with spring returns.
